

Unistream is a system of urgent money transfers without opening an account for individuals. Since 2001, the dynamically developing system of international money transfers UNISTRIM has been carrying out money transfers of individuals using the most modern means of communication. UNISTREAM annually makes millions of money transfers and is one of the largest international market players. Today, UNISTREAM customers can transfer money to one of 280,000 service points around the world. UNISTRIM representative offices operate in Russia, the UK, Greece and Cyprus. The number of UNISTRIM System partners worldwide exceeds 400 financial institutions. UNISTRIM cares about its customers and offers them not only traditional, but also the most advanced banking products, including transfers to any international bank card.

Sending a transfer

To send a money transfer, the sender provides an identification document, it is also necessary to provide the recipient's full name, country and other details if necessary (the list of which is determined by the software methods of the Unistream system).

The sender of the transfer through the UNISTREAM System can deposit cash to any international bank card of the transfer recipient:

bank cards of payment systems MIR, VISA and MasterCard (including Maestro) and Tinkoff issued by banks of the Russian Federation;

Bank cards of the payment system China Union Pay in US dollars and RMB issued by banks in China;

bank cards of VISA and MasterCard payment systems issued by foreign banks.

Currency of sending: Uzbek sum, US dollars, Euro.

The method of providing funds for the sender of funds is by depositing cash at the cash desk.

Receipt of transfer

To receive a money transfer, the recipient must provide an identification document, the control number of the transfer, which is assigned when sending the transfer, the amount and currency of the transfer. The sender confidentially informs the recipient of the control number.

The way to receive money by money transfer is by paying cash from the bank's cash desk. The transfer can be received in the following currencies: Uzbek sum, US dollars, Euro.

A transfer that is not claimed by the recipient can be returned based on the application of the sender, to return the transfer sent by him, completed by the sender.

Payment for a canceled transfer is paid to the sender if there is information in the Unistream system about the possibility of returning the transfer, which can arrive within a few hours to several days from the date of sending the request for canceling the transfer, depending on the country and / or bank of the recipient.

The term of the transfer depends on the country and the recipient's bank.

The status of the money transfer sent can be checked at any time on the official website of the Unistream system.
